

FREMANTLE

BAR & KITCHEN

The Fremantle Doctor is late today - how I yearn for that cooling breeze to caress so softly all over my skin and stir the sad leaves of the trees.

The torrid heat of the long summer days
stifles the heart, and I'm yearning for the freshness of night, cool moonlight,
and relief from the sun and its burning.

So seawards I look with a hope and a prayer for the summer is only half through and if not for the touch of the Fremantle Doctor
I don't know just what I would do.

EAST LONDON LIQUOR CO.

East London Liquor is a very local distillery. Established in 2014, it marks a revival of distilling in London's Bow Wharf. The company produces a range of craft spirits including gin, vodka, rum, and whisky.

Their products often emphasize local ingredients and traditional distilling techniques with a modern twist. The distillery itself is located in a restored glue factory in Victoria Park, and it has become a notable part of London's craft spirit scene.

Taittinger Champagne Reims, France is one of the oldest and most recognisable champagne producers in the world. Established in 1734 and taken over by the Taittinger family in 1932, it has a rich history intertwined with the tradition and elegance of French winemaking.

The house is renowned for its unique style of champagne, which emphasizes the use of a high proportion of Chardonnay grapes, setting it apart from many other producers who typically favor Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier.

The cellars of the Taittinger Champagne House are located on the site of the historic Abbey of Saint-Nicaise, dating back to the 13th century, which adds a remarkable historical depth to its operations.
